The purpose of Urban Capital Partners is to establish people- and place-based strategies that uplift the standard of learning and living in inner city communities. Urban Capital Partners' inner city youth development system has been uniquely designed to deliberately influence a change in thoughts and attitudes by intentionally targeting four cause areas: education, family support, leadership, and health. The organization's community-based program, Becoming A Better You, provides over 500 inner city youth across nine communities on the East Side of San Antonio with academic and social development support throughout the school year.

Brandon graduated Cum Laude in three years from Grambling State University, where he focused his efforts on academics and athletics. Notably, he was named Grambling Football Scholar Athlete of the Year and was a member of the 2005 national championship team.
